A.The Main Game System • Inventive Action Game • 3D Character Design • A Large World Full of Excitement The goal of ELDEN RING is to increase the character's strength so they can take their pride in their strength and defeat the most dangerous enemies. This goal is symbolized by the number of EXP points that appears in the character gauge. - There is no restriction of EXP points. However, each successive EXP point becomes progressively more powerful. - It becomes easier to raise levels with the increased EXP points, but the rate of EXP is slower than in classic RPGs. - You can raise their level by performing EXP-gaining activities, such as fighting enemies and traversing dungeons. - Based on the types of information acquired, an individual's EXP bar will be raised differently. Acquiring information through effective quests will raise the character's EXP bar faster. B.Character Card System Your EXP bar also functions as your character card. 1. Completion of the Daily Quests: New Quests will be periodically introduced. Completion of Daily Quests will raise your EXP bar and reward your character with items. - Your current level as well as your EXP level will be shown when you are in front of the level up window. This will allow you to immediately view the new information acquired. 2. The effect of the Master System: The EXP points will increase automatically according to your EXP level. 3. A Fine Alignment of EXP: The EXP points won't accumulate at a uniform rate. - The accumulated EXP points are calculated for each segment. - It is possible for the accumulated EXP points for each segment to differ significantly. If the accumulated EXP points have fallen below the amount required to reach the new level, the accumulated EXP points will be automatically redistributed. 4. Exception in the case of Experience Points that exceed the required level: When in a Certain situation, the EXP points that are required to level up will be accumulated. However, if the accumulated EXP points exceed the required EXP level, the excess points will be automatically redistributed. - The accumulated points that are required to level up will be calculated for each segment. - It is possible for the accumulated EXP points for each segment to differ significantly. Therefore, we have decided to prevent
